Luke 24:30-31a (KJV)

```
D                            A
And it came to pass, as He sat at meat with them,
D
He took bread, and blessed it, and
   A                E     D         E
brake, and gave to them, and their eyes
       A      D   E          A
were opened, and they knew Him.

E                            D          A
Lord, I want to have - fellowship with You
 D        E                  A
Open my eyes that I might know you
  E                          D                 A
I want to recognize it’s you before you’re done
D     E
Luke 24, 30 and 31

D                            A
And it came to pass, as He sat at meat with them,
D
He took bread, and blessed it, and
   A                E     D         E
brake, and gave to them, and their eyes
       A      D   E          A
were opened, and they knew Him.

D                            A
And it came to pass, as He sat at meat with them,
D
He took bread, and blessed it, and
   A                E     D         E
brake, and gave to them, and their eyes
       A      D   E          A
were opened, and they knew Him.
 D   E          A
and they knew Him.
```