Isaiah 42:10a (KJV)

```
A                  D   A
Sing unto the Lord a new song,
                                      E
And his praise from the end of the earth,
 A               D      A
Ye that go down to the sea,
               E       A
And all that is therein;

  A                   D              A
Praising my God with songs that are new
                               E
Obeying verse 10, of Isaiah 42
     A                  D           A
I commune with God in sweet fellowship
A                                  E          A
As a song in my heart finds its way to my lips

A                  D   A
Sing unto the Lord a new song,
                                      E
And his praise from the end of the earth,
 A               D      A
Ye that go down to the sea,
               E       A
And all that is therein;

A                  D   A
Sing unto the Lord a new song,
                                      E
And his praise from the end of the earth,
 A               D      A
Ye that go down to the sea,
               E       A
And all that is therein;
                               E
Obeying verse 10, of Isaiah 42
```