Proverbs 10:27 (NIV)

```
D                         G
The fear of the Lord adds length to life,
        D                           A
but the years of the wicked are cut short.
    D                     G
The fear of the Lord adds length to life,
        D           A             D
but the years of the wicked are cut short.
D                         G
The fear of the Lord adds length to life,
        D                           A
but the years of the wicked are cut short.
    D                     G
The fear of the Lord adds length to life,
        D           A             D
but the years of the wicked are cut short.

               G       D                A
My goal is age 100 and then I will go to heaven
        D               G               D       A   D
It's because I love and fear the Lord - Proverbs 10:27
    D    G              D              A
But even 100 years - Is just a blink in time
     D           G             D     A       D
It's only through Jesus, that eternal life is mine

D                         G
The fear of the Lord adds length to life,
        D                           A
but the years of the wicked are cut short.
    D                     G
The fear of the Lord adds length to life,
        D           A             D
but the years of the wicked are cut short.
D                         G
The fear of the Lord adds length to life,
        D                           A
but the years of the wicked are cut short.
    D                     G
The fear of the Lord adds length to life,
        D           A             D       G   D A D
but the years of the wicked are cut short.
```